POLICEMAN MOHR.

Held by the Coroner's Jury to Have Caused John Slattery's Death.

AN UNLUCKY BLOW.

Varying Testimony of the Defendant and Bystanders.

Coroner Woltman yesterday held an inquest on the body of John Slattery, who died at Chambers Street Hospital on the 21st inst. from a fracture of the skull. Policeman John Mohr, of the Seventh precinct, was arraigned on a charge of having assaulted deceased and inflicted such injuries as led to his death. Johanna Slattery, wife of deceased, de-posed that she resides at No. 101 Madison street; per husband left home at four P. M., Friday, the 19th just.; the next time she saw him was on Sunday, the 21st, at Chambers Street Hospital; he was then dead; she had been informed that her husband had been arrested and sent to the Island for ten days on a charge of intoxication; he was not a drinking

James B. Fuller, a sergeant of the Seventh precinct, deposed that he was not acquainted with how Slattery had received his injuries; between twenty and thirty minutes past nine o'clock in the evening Policeman John Mohr brought deceased in a hand-cart to the station house; he was then alive but unconscious; the prisoner appeared to be intoxicated; there was a wound in the back of his head; he was breathing heavily, and an ambulance was sent for; it was ascertained that he was suffering from a frac-tured skull. The sergeant did not examine to see if the wounded man was in liquor. Mohr has always been considered a very efficient and worthy officer

William Foley, of No. 95 Henry street, was the next witness. He testified that he is acquainted with the defendant, and also with a son of deceased; he met the former about nine minutes after nine on the evening in question; the policeman was then coming through Madison street; on the opposite side of the street was a man holding on to a post on the sidewalk; he was swaying to and fre; the officer remarked that the post could not stand up without being held in position; this was said in the hearing of the intoxicated man; the latter replied, "It is none of your damned business;" the policeman repeated his remark, and then slapped deceased in the face with his glove; at that time deceased was standing; he suddenly lurched backward and fell; Mohr was facing him; witness sat the injured man on the sidewalk while Officer hohr went in search of a handcart; witness did not know Mr. Slattery; he assisted in taking the wounded man to the station house; there were no marks or violence on his face with the exception of blood on his mustache; he did not hear Slattery speak after he was struck by Mohr; no blood was discernible on the face of Slattory before he was struck by the officer; Officer Mohr could not have struck Slattery without witness having seen it; the policeman's club was in his belt and his glove was in his hand.

ADPFERENT VERSION.

John Kelly, of No. 167 Madison street, gave testimony, after which George P. Gee, residing at No. 199 Madison street, who is in the tea business, deposed that on Friday evening, about haif-past nine o'clock, the 19th inst., he was coming through Madison street, when he heard some one say, "If you do not tell me your name I will punch all the teeth down your throat;" he stepped back a few feet and was about three yards from the party when he first saw them; he was on the west side of the street; he saw a policeman and a man standing against a post; there were two others present at the time; the policeman asked the man four or five times where he lived; the latter appeared, and the man replied, "Around here:" the policeman asked spain for the number of the man's residence, and, receiving no answer, hit him on the right side of the head; the man receled, and his hat fell off; the policeman asked him again where he lived, and at the same time hit him on the left side of the head; the man receled, and his hat fell off; the policeman asked him again where he lived, and at the same time hit him on the left side of the head; the man receled, and his hat fell off; the policeman placed deceased on a handcart; the injured man was bleading from the nose, and something that looked like blood was on the back of his head; the policeman placed deceased on a handcart and took him to the station house; no one could have struck deceased at that time except the policeman without the witness seeling it; when deceased fell the bystanders cried "Shame!" witness asked of those present the policeman's number, but no one could tell him. He failed to identify Mohr at the station house.

Dr. E. C. Webb, a resident at Ward's Island and a

could tell him. He failed to identify Monr at the station house.

Dr. E. O. Webb, a resident at Ward's Island and a graduate of Albany College, at present attached to Ward's Island Hospital, stated that the deceased, John Slattery, had been in the above institution, where he had been removed from the Workhouse. He was committed by Justice Wandell for intoxication. He was discharged from hospital the 16th inst. At the time he was suffering from a wound on the right side of the back of the head. The officials placed him in a padded cell, as it was supposed that he was on the point of delirium tremens. At the time of leaving his condition was but slightly improved. Witness did not diagnose fracture of the skull, as he did not examine for it.

did not examine for it.

IN HIS OWN BEHALF.

Police Officer John Mohr testified in his own behalf. He was appointed on the force July 1, 1872; about nine P. M. on the 19th inst. he was going down Madison street and met the man Slattery in front of No. 111; the latter was then staggering about nine P. M. on the 19th inst. he was going down Madison street and met the man Slattery in front of No. 111; the latter was then staggering along; subsequently witness met deceased in tront of No. 139 Madison street; he was leaning against a signpost in front of a liquor store, swaying backward and forward, apparently intoxicated; said the witness, I saked him where he lived; he replied that it was none of my business; I then told him if he did not tell me where he lived that I would arrest him; he then stared at me with his eyes wide open; my left hand glove was in my right hand and I slightly touched him in the face with my glove; as I did so both of his feet went from under him and he fell to the curb; the flag he was standing on is of white marble, two feet long and serves to hold the post in position; the snow and trost made the flag slippery; as he was falling I bried to catch him; I have never had any complaint of assault preferred against me; by orders of Captain Petty I was arrested at five minutes of six o'clock P. M. the 21st inst., since which time I have been out on bail; I reached the station house with deceased about half-past nine P. M.; my post is on Madison street, from Pike to Catharine, and Birmingham, from Henry to Madison; I never saw the deceased before that night; I slapped him in the face because I thought he was going to sleep and on account of the strange way he looked at me; Slattery did not fall when I struck him with my glove, but he attempted to move of, and in doing so he fell.

Deputy Coroner Cushman deposed that he made an autopsy and found among other marks of violence a clet of blood over the brain on the right side; there was also laceration of the brain tissue in right hemisphere, and a fracture of the skull extending from the occipital bone to the base of the skull; the other organs were found to be in a normal condition. Death, in the opinion of Dr. Cushman, was caused by compression of the brain from fracture of the skull, due to violence.

After brief deliberation

COLOR BLINDNESS.

CRIMINATING COLORS AMONG RIVER PILOTS

AND LOOKOUT MEN. The frequency of accidents on the East and North rivers and the peculiar contradictions in the testi-mony taken on investigations of them, concerning what lights were shown, has induced the companies running ferryboats to submit all pilots and lookout men to examination as to their sense of color. It will be remembered that the subject of color blindwill be remembered that the subject of color blindness among railroad employes and scafaring men was first brought prominently into public notice about two years ago, when a celebrated German coulist read a paper on the subject before the Ophthalmic Congress. In the paper it was maintained that a majority of railway accidents and collisions at sea resulted from color blindness in employes. Since that time tests have been made in various quarters of the globe, and on all German railroads at this time applicants for employment are examined as to their perception of colors. A short while since a number of tests were made in Philadelphia, and many men of defective color sense were removed from the local railroads. These tests are now being repeated here by Dr. Robert White, at the office of the United States Marine Hospital, at the rear of the Custom House. He has already examined twenty men employed as ferry pilots and lookouts, and during the early days of this week he expects to examine as many more.

outs, and during the early days of this week he expects to examine as many more.

The methods of testing are very simple, as will be seen. A contused bundle of skeins of Berlin worsted, of all colors and shades, are placed before the man to be examined, and he is requested to pick out all the shades of green, then all the shades of blue, and so on. Men whose sense of color is perfect have no difficulty in picking out what is called for, but those whose some is imperfect are confused between the lighter shades of green and blue, and between the lighter shades of green, blue and brown. It is plain to be seen how a defect that manifests listelf within the narrow confines of a room may be magnified at sea, or when the sight makes long excursions to a colored object, such as a switch signal or the like. The men who are found to be at fault are refused certificates, and the companies employing them will not allow them to de pilot or lockout duty.

FOR THE HOSPITALS.

OVER $9,000 RECEIVED UP TO LAST EVENING-LARGE SUMS EXPECTED TO-DAY AND MON-DAY-ENTHUSIASM FOR THE SICK AND SUF-

It could not be ascertained definitely, last ever what were the amounts contributed to the hospitals of the city through the various exchanges, banks, &c., but from the figures obtained between $9,000 and $10,000 were received by the several treasurers. pecting donations for their own institution issued a special appeal to the rabbies of the synagogues, besides the general appeal sent out by the Rev. Dr. Parker, asking that collections be taken up for the general hospital fund. This was done yesterday in the Temple Emanu-El, Forty-fourth Street, Thirty-fourth Street, Beth-El, Ahavath Chesed and other synagogues where the matter was brought before the congregations. The returns from the trustees of those shrines could not be obtained, inasmuch as synagogues where the matter was brought before the congregations. The returns from the trustees of those shrines could not be obtained, inasmuch as contributions from absentees are expected to-day and to-morrow also. But from the interest manifested by rabbies and people Dr. Baker, the general secretary of the hospital committee, and the originator of the scheme, expects large returns. The banks of the city have taken no concerted action in this matter, and hence Mr. C. M. Fry, of the Bank of New York, the treasurer for the banks' contributions, had nothing to report. It was expected, however, that something would be done about it on Monday or Tuesday. A couple of smail donations for St. Luke's and another hospital had been received. Dr. Baker has 255 hospital boxes at the Post Office and stations, the principal hotels and elevated railroad stations and in other public places. These will not be known yesterday, but the committee expect a good many dimes and half dimes to be taken from the insurance men.

ANOUNTS RECEIVED UP TO YESTERDAY.

If the result of this effort is not successful beyond the most sanguine anticipations it will not be for any lack of information to the public thereshout. The yellow flags were seen yesterday on Broadway stages, horse cars, at places of anuscement, skating ponds and such other places as persons were likely to gather in numbers. These flags simply bore the words "For the hospitals" or "Hospital Saturday," and reminded the travelling and rejoicing public that there are ten thousand or more of their brothers and sisters who can't travel or be joyous to-day because sickness and disease have laid their hands on them. So far as contributions were reported late yesterday afternoon the following sums will give the results:—Mr. Charles Lanier, the general freeze of the Chamber of Commerce contributions, reported $2,303 (Mr. S. D. Sent St.)00 each to Mr. Lanier for the general fund. The aggregate of the Produce Exchange, $03; Mr. J. H. Earle, for the Cotton Exchange, $105, and Mr. S. F.

REAL ESTATE.

No foreclosure sales were made at the Merchants Exchange yesterday. It is reported that at private sale the block bounded by Sixty-ninth and Seventieth streets and Second and Third avenues has been sold to a Air. Danziger for $250,000. The five five-story brown stone buildings at the corner of 101st street and Third avenue have been purchased by

FUNERAL OF GENERAL KINGSBURY. IMPRESSIVE SERVICES IN HONOR OF THE DE-CEASED VETERAN.

The funeral of Brevet Brigadier General Charles Kingsbury, who died at his residence, No. 16 Han-cock street, Williamsburg, took place yesterday afternoon, from the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn. Before the remains were removed from the house prayer was offered by the late pastor of deceased, Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler, D. D. The funeral cortége reached the church shortly after one o'clock. The carket was borne into the church by eight private soldiers of the Gov-ernor's Island garrison. The following dis-tinguished officers and friends of the departed General acted as pallbearers:—Msjor Gen-erals Winfield S. Hancock, Henry W. Slocum and Silas Casey, and Brevet Major General New-ton, Brevet Brigadier Generals McKeever and Mitchton, Brovet Brigadier Generals McKeever and Mitchell, Mr. Gordon Burchard and Mr. A. S. Porter. The remains, which were dressed in the full uniform of a brigadier general, reposed in a rosewood easket, with silver bar handles. Around the casket was wrapped the American flag. Following in the rear of the palibearers, as the cortige moved up the aisle, were Brevet Brigadier Generals Clarke and Hagner, Colonels Crispin, Belgar, Parker, Laidiey and McPhail, Major Crowley and Captain Wharton, of the United States Army. The pastor read from the Seriptures, and after a solo, which was rendered by Mr. Burge with much feeling, Dr. Cuyler addressed the congregation. He dwelt upon the faithful Christian life of the departed veteran. For the eight years he had been a member of the Lafayette Avenue Church ho was one of the most devoted and regular attendants. The reverand speaker alluded to an incident which occurred recently at one of the regular weekly prayer meetings, when in company with General Kingsbury in the same pow were seated Generals Casey and Patrick. The three white haired soldiers had been companions in arms in Mexico and elsewhere, and were likewise comrades in the service of Christ. All were West Point graduates. Dr. Cuyler said that, although the domestic ties of General Kingsbury at the breaking out of the late war were on the side of the South, and many of his earliest friends were in that region, his love was only increased for his country. In concluding his remarks he paid a glowing tribute to the bright example which the life of General Kingsbury at the breaking out of the late war were on the side of the South, and many of his earliest friends were in that region, his love was only increased for his country. In concluding his remarks he paid a glowing tribute to the bright example which the life of General Kingsbury at the breaking out of the hymn, "Abide with me, fast falls the eventide," by Mr. Burge, the congregation took a farewell look at the face of the dead. The benediction was pronounced and
